

Pettis Countians Buy Million In War Bonds In 7 Hours

Numerous Buyers
After Goal Of $895,000 Reached In Selling Campaign

The seven-hour bond selling drive for the Fifth War Loan in Pettis county and Sedalia closed at 9 o'clock Friday evening with over a million dollars sold or subscribed. Before the official closing hour it was evident that the quota of $895,000 was exceeded and as the minutes passed toward 9 o'clock reports from the "Induction Centers" kept the two phones at the Bond Headquarters jammed with calls. By 9:30 the preliminary reports made the million dollar mark a certainty, and C. L. Hanley, chairman of the Pettis county war finance committee, authorized the announcement of victory to the press and radio.

War bonds were still being sold in Sedalia on Saturday at the banks and post office, indicating that the public was not yet satisfied with merely passing the goal. Many others were redeeming their pledges made during the seven-hour drive and exchanged cash for bonds.

The official tabulation of the bond pledge certificates will take at least two days. Until that is done, it will not be definitely ascertained just how many bonds were sold or the amount attained.

Utilizing the induction-center plan, with every rural school house and 25 centers in Sedalia open for sales, the dozens of willing workers who devoted hours of preparation to organization of the campaign, worked rapidly and efficiently to climax their efforts with even better than hoped-for success.

With animated smiles, Charles L. Hanley, county chairman, and Ben P. Robinson, city chairman, made the announcement shortly after the drive closed at nine o'clock and the reports from the townships were received by telephone.

Incessant clanging of bells, screaming of sirens and parading of loud-speaker systems heralded hour-by-hour progress of the induction of invasion-backers.

Leading members of the local clergy cruised over the residential and downtown streets to lend stress over loud speakers to the importance of subscription for bonds and more bonds.

Musical Bands

Bands from Smith-Cotton and C. C. Hubbard high schools rode in trucks to play stirring strains during the afternoon and evening. More than five hundred workers from retail stores, county offices and other establishments which were closed for the event were on duty at the induction points. Boy Scouts and other organizations were well-represented.

Planes Over City

Friday night a four-element flight of planes from the SAAF winged its way over the city, adding moment to the impetus of wartime necessity for sacrifice to speed victory for Allied forces in history's greatest struggle for the liberty Americans are compelled to fight bloodily to preserve.

The Pettis County War Finance Committee immediately wired the Missouri War Finance Committee in St. Louis Friday night of the splendid results of the day's campaign. The wire was addressed to Earl Shackelford and Mrs. Dorothy Devin, of the committee.

A similar telegram was dispatched to R. E. L. (Bob) Hill, out-state chairman of the Missouri War Finance Committee, at Columbia, Mo.

Coast Guard Band At Park On Flag Day

Two Outstanding
Speakers Also
On Evening Program

Combining a bond rally with its annual Flag day celebration, Sedalia Lodge No. 125 of the Elks in conjunction with the Pettis county war bond committee, will sponsor a program Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the band shell at Liberty park on West Third street.

All civic, service and patriotic organizations are asked to participate in the celebration which will be open to the public.

A special attraction will be the U. S. Coast Guard band, which was enthusiastically received in a previous appearance here.

The patriotic address of the evening will be given by Madame Nila Magidoff, Russian-born newspaper correspondent and wife of Robert Magidoff, NBC war correspondent at Moscow. Madame Magidoff is touring the United States.

Returned Officer Talks

Talk, lasting about ten minutes by a young lieutenant, coming from St. Louis, who made 21 sorties over Italy, was shot down, and has a most interesting story to tell.

The Rev. Clyde S. Sherman, pastor of the First Christian church, will talk on the "History of Our Flag."

Hugo Spahn is chairman of the Flag day exercises for the Elks with George H. Scruton and Carl Urban on the committee, and they are working in cooperation with C. L. Hanley, war bond chairman, to make the celebration an outstanding one.

Might Be Start Of Red Offensive

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
LONDON, June 10.—(AP)—The Germans and the Finns said tonight that the Russians had launched a "general offensive" on the Karelian Isthmus of the Finnish front above Leningrad, and one Berlin commentator suggested that it might be the opening blow of a Soviet onslaught across the entire eastern front.

Moscow itself said "there were no important changes at the front" during the day. The broadcast Russian communiqué said 14 enemy planes were shot down Friday, but made no mention of any other action.

Berlin said there was accelerated action on five sectors of the eastern front in addition to the new action in Karelia.

From the bloody Iasi front in Romania to the long-dormant northern theater suspense was heightened as the third anniversary of Hitler's June 22 invasion of Russia approached, and in high places everywhere it appeared that master Soviet strokes could not be deferred much longer if they were not already under way.

The Finnish army communiqué broke the first word of the reported new offensive, declaring that the Russians early yesterday morning started a general offensive on the Karelian Isthmus supported by "particularly heavy artillery fire and strong air forces."

Corn Be Imported From Argentina

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP)—The War Food Administration announced today that it had arranged for the July importation of 6,000,000 bushels of corn from Argentina to help relieve an acute domestic shortage.

Needed for livestock feed and for food processing and other essential war uses, the corn will be brought in under shipping arrangements made with the War Shipping Administration and private importers.

Approval Of Airport Expected This Week

Officials of the Civil Aeronautics are expected to be in Sedalia Monday to look over, and give approval to the Sedalia Municipal airport, which will then be turned over to Jack Funk, who has leased it for a period of three years, for aerial activities.

Workers have been busy on the field last week, have the runways ready, and after approval is given Mr. Funk will take over.

There are about 15 students ready to enter the school.

Lead With The Cry 'Geronimo'

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 10.—(AP)—America's first two airborne divisions—the 82nd and 101st—were revealed tonight as leading the invasion of Normandy with their traditional battle cry "Geronimo."

It was the third assault for the 82nd which spearheaded the attacks on Sicily and Salerno, when the U. S. army was enlarged in 1942, the 82nd was reactivated in March under the command of Maj. Gen. Omar N. Bradley.

Oil Cars Ablaze After Collision

Others With War
Materials Damaged
Near Stoutland

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 10.—(AP)—At least 14 Frisco freight cars—13 of them loaded with war-scarce materials—were destroyed or badly damaged by a fire which broke out after two freight trains collided head-on half a mile east of Stoutland at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon.

The fire started in five tank cars full of oil—part of an east bound train which included 40 oil-laden cars. The oil was burning fiercely tonight.

Also burned, Frisco officials here reported, were a carload of liquor, a carload of bakers' goods, including sugar, a carload each of radios, refrigerators and heaters; two carloads of "government supplies," which officials could not otherwise identify, a carload of cheese and an empty coal car.

Two men were reported injured, neither of them seriously.

Engineer O. M. Wilson of Springfield, at the throttle of engine 4419 which was pulling the east-bound train, received a sprained shoulder, Frisco officials were notified. Reports from Stoutland said Brakeman Alonzo Burgess of Stoutland also received a minor shoulder injury.

Accident At Switch
The two trains came together near a switch just east of Stoutland, which is 15 miles northeast of Lebanon near the Laclede-Camden county line.

Frisco officials said the cause of the wreck had not been determined. An investigation was started, they added.

Engines of both trains—two of the biggest and most powerful owned by the Frisco—"must have been pretty badly damaged" by the impact, which knocked more than a dozen cars off the track, the officials said.

Immediately after the collision, calls for help were sent to Newburg, Lebanon, Springfield and Fort Wood.

From Newburg and Lebanon, on either side of the wreck, engines raced to the scene and pulled the remaining oil cars and other cars back to safety, away from the roaring, oil-fed flames.

Wreckers were sent from Newburg and Springfield, and the fire department for Fort Wood sped to the scene to battle the blaze with chemicals. The collision tied up the main line of the Frisco between Springfield and St. Louis.

In Accord On War Benefits

Broad Relief In
The Plan Formed
For The Veterans

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP)—A joint congressional committee settled all its differences today and unanimously approved a broad legislative program of benefits for the veterans of this war.

Expected ratification of the compromise next week will send the legislation to the White House for presidential action. Arrangements have been made to lay it before the senate Monday and the house Tuesday or Thursday.

Under the bill, men and women returning from the war will be entitled to hospitalization, educational assistance, aid in getting jobs and unemployment compensation. The cost has been estimated at $3,000,000,000 to $6,500,000,000 but an accurate calculation is impossible.

Only one provision, dealing with job placement, was in dispute when the senate-house conferees got together this morning. Fearing a deadlock over that, American Legion representatives had sent an "SOS" to Rep. Gibson (D-Ga.), one of the conferees, at his home at Douglas, Ga., to cast what might be the deciding vote.

Gibson arrived by plane this morning. But evidently there wasn't the stalemate the Legion thought, for the first ballot was thirteen to one to accept the senate's idea of putting job placement under the U. S. Employment service to avoid setting up a whole new agency in the Veterans Administration.

Accept House Proposal
To obtain senate provisions on job placement, the conferees had to accept a house proposal that any benefits a veteran gets under the "G. I. bill of rights" be deducted from any bonus granted him after the war.

Here are some of the major things the bill will do.

1. If the veteran should be out of a job during the first two years after his discharge, he could draw $20 a week unemployment compensation for 52 weeks.

2. If his education was interrupted when he put on a uniform—and the bill establishes a presumption of interruption if he entered service before the age of 25—he could get a year's schooling, and in some instances a complete college education. The government would pay $500 for the year's tuition, laboratory fees, books and similar expenses, and $50 a month for subsistence, plus $25 for dependents.

3. If he needed a job, he could enlist the help of the federal employment service.

4. If he needed hospitalization, he would get it through the Veterans Administration.

Will Spearhead The Loan Drive

TEXARKANA, Tex., June 10.—(AP)—Texarkana, which will spearhead the opening of the Fifth war loan drive Monday, was told by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., tonight that the war in 1944 will cost more than it did last year.

Morgenthau's announcement was in reply to a telegram sent by this Texas-Arkansas border city to the secretary of the treasury at Hot Springs, Ark., announcing that Texarkana has already exceeded its bond quota of $4,675,000.

Morgenthau, who today was re-writing with Hollywood producer Orson Welles the radio show that will inaugurate the loan drive, replied:

"I want to congratulate you on the job you have done in already raising more than your share of the $16,000,000,000 which must be secured in the Fifth war loan drive. This is concrete proof that you really mean business in your civilian D-day. You are backing up those gallant men who now swarm across the English channel and fight their courageous way toward Berlin and the end of the European war. x x x"

Allied Planes Hammer Foe After A Lull

Troops, Tanks And Airdromes Blasted
By Big Air Force

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 10.—(AP)—The Allied air forces, establishing their first bases on the beachheads in France, hammered German concentrations of troops and tanks, big guns positions and airdromes with hundreds of planes of all types today as the weather cleared and enabled heavy bombers to resume their support of the invasion after an enforced 15-hour lull.

Bombs, rockets and a hail of bullets were poured down upon the Germans as the Allied airmen put a protective roof over the embattled infantrymen aground and blasted positions in and behind the German lines.

At least three enemy aircraft were shot down and seven Allied fighters are missing, supreme headquarters said preliminary reports showed.

To Air From French Soil
Supreme headquarters announced that for the first time since 1940 Allied air units were operating from French soil on three landing strips built by the Ninth U. S. air force since last Wednesday, and all located in the heart of territory recently won and still within enemy artillery range.

First planes to make scheduled landings on the continent, three Ninth air force C-47 transports, took off at 8:48 a. m., and within four and one-half hours returned to Britain with full cargoes of wounded—German and Allied.

One 1,600-foot landing strip was built in six hours yesterday by an engineering unit commanded by Lt. Col. J. J. Livingston of St. Louis, Mo. The other two were completed by mid-afternoon Thursday by engineering detachments under Lt. Col. Max McCroy of Martins Ferry, Ohio.

One strip was used promptly by British Second tactical command fighters. One RAF and one Belgian squadron patrolled the beach area until fuel ran low, landed at the emergency strip, refueled and set off on offensive patrol behind the battle zone.

Flying with the first evacuation unit were a flight surgeon, five nurses and six medical technicians. Mustangs escorted the C-47s, but met no German planes.

Weather Over
Strait Improves

LONDON, June 10.—(AP)—The weather over the Dover Strait and the invasion beachheads in France continued to improve tonight with the barometer rising and visibility fair.

A light northwesterly wind increased slightly after dark, but the sea was calm on this side and only slightly disturbed off the French coast. The sky was overcast but the cloudbank was high and light. The temperature still was unseasonably low reading 50 degrees at 10 p. m.

For a time during the afternoon the French coast was clearly visible across the channel.

Front Is Expanded And Isigny Taken By The Americans

Bulletins

LONDON, Sunday, June 11.—(AP)—The Vichy radio reported last night that Allied warships had attacked Toulon, great French naval base on the Mediterranean.

The broadcast claimed German coastal batteries had sunk one "gunboat." No landings were reported.

LONDON, June 11.—(AP)—Berlin was bombed last night for the second night in a row by RAF bombers which also bombed targets behind the Germans' invasion battle lines.

It was officially announced that the attack on the German capital was carried out by British Mosquitos.

Clark's Fifth
Army Moving
To The North

Pursue Fleeing
Nazi Forces Fifty
Miles Above Rome

By NOLAND NORGAAARD
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN Italy, June 10.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth army raced northward virtually unopposed along a broad front 30 miles above Rome today in pursuit of enemy forces fleeing so fast they could not be caught, and the Allied command declared officially that the Nazi rout now had become a "catastrophe."

Advancing at a speed which has averaged 15 miles a day since the fall of Rome, Gen. Clark's men captured the ancient town of Tuscany, 13 miles northeast of Tuscany, which fell yesterday, and fanned out in a vain effort to tangle with important units of Col. Gen. Eberhard Von Mackensen's 14th army.

This Nazi army, said a headquarters spokesman, "is retreating in a completely disorganized fashion," and "despite the great speed of the Allied pursuit our troops have been unable to catch up with any important element of it."

The German withdrawal before the British Eighth army on the Adriatic front, first announced yesterday, continued with the Allies advancing more than five miles and capturing the battle-wrecked towns of Orsogna, Guardigle, Milonico and Filetto and crossing the river Foro.

Eight Army Advances
The Eighth army front east of Rome also was advanced as Allied troops, fighting their way through demolitions and minefields in the rough country, captured Moricone, 11 miles north of Tivoli, and Arsoli, nine miles northwest of Subiaco.

The cutting up of the German 14th army was providing the great drama for the moment, however, observing that stragglers and deserters were continually being picked up "from all manner of units," the Allied spokesman said that only organized body of troops yet met here were from the 20th Luftwaffe field division, hastily rushed from Denmark to Italy.

lie American dead from the First World War. Here in the gently-rolling hills where the grass always is green and towering pines scent the breeze, will lie the dead from this war until they are moved home.

There were no mourners inside the Rhododendron-banded cemetery save one. An English girl, her eyes red and puffy from weeping, stood in the road a few away, and chewed nervously at a wrinkled handkerchief. She wore a rough leather coat, no hat, and no stockings. One of the Americans was her husband.

Another was a flier, a P-38 pilot. From his base somewhere in England four of the twin-tailed craft dipped near the small group. Flying in perfect echelon, their engines muffled, they circled once and disappeared.

Another American I knew. He was the crew chief aboard a troop carrier plane riddled by ground fire beyond the bridgehead on Cherbourg peninsula Tuesday night.

With Capt. Sumner Johnson, U. S. Ninth air force chaplain of Terryville, Conn., I drove to this cemetery. It must be one of the most beautiful in the world. Here

First American Dead From Fight Across Channel Buried

By HOWARD COWAN
BROOK WOOD AMERICAN CEMETERY, England, June 10.—(AP)—The first American dead from the terrible battle across the channel rested tonight beneath British soil.

Rows of flag-covered caskets of brown, polished wood lay at the bottom of mass graves opened by steel-jawed steam shovel.

As a double column of officers and enlisted men led by five chaplains approached in a slow march, the English operator of the steam shovel stood silently in his cab, his hand clenching his cap, his black hair blowing in the wind.

There was nothing to mark this as anything but another military funeral, but it seemed to drive home with cruel sharpness the increased tempo of war on the French coast.

With Capt. Sumner Johnson, U. S. Ninth air force chaplain of Terryville, Conn., I drove to this cemetery. It must be one of the most beautiful in the world. Here

Drive Takes Them Within 15 Miles Of The Prized Port Of Cherbourg

By JAMES M. LONG
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 10.—(AP)—U. S. invasion troops covered by Allied fighters striking from newly-won airfields in France smashed a third of the way across the Normandy peninsula today and the Germans said the Americans were attacking the Nazi's "shortened defense lines" near a point only 15 miles southeast of the prize port of Cherbourg.

Expanding their front to 35 miles, the Yank doughboys under Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley captured the small but valuable port of Isigny, 32 miles southeast of Cherbourg, toppled Trevières eight miles east of Isigny, closed in from both sides on Carentan, communications hub at the narrowest part of the peninsula's neck, and slashed "in several places" the main Paris railway leading into Cherbourg.

Flood Battle Areas
The Germans have begun flooding several battle areas, a spokesman disclosed, adding that the maneuver was causing difficulties.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, overall commander of the American, British and Canadian ground forces, now has established advance headquarters in France, a headquarters statement said.

Montgomery already has visited the troops in front-line action and is reported well satisfied with their progress.

Berlin broadcasts said the Americans were attacking their withdrawing units just south and east of Montebourg, 15 miles from Cherbourg on the Carentan-Valognes highway.

The Germans previously had reported the dropping of American parachutists in the Lessay and Coutances areas on the western side of the peninsula. Lessay is only 13 miles beyond U. S. spearheads cutting across the peninsula from the east.

A Vichy broadcast said the American drive on Cherbourg had rolled through Emondville, two miles southeast of Montebourg.

Caen In Flames
To the east, on the left flank of the Americans, the old Gothic city of Caen near the mouth of the Orne river was reported in flames as British and Canadian gunners pumped shells into desperately resisting Germans entrenched in that vital communications hub.

The Allies also stood firm under savage Nazi counterattacks launched by two German tank divisions and two infantry divisions. The British and Canadians were fighting fiercely to keep the German panzer divisions from the good tank-fighting country between Caen and Bayeux, and according to German reports also were spearing southward toward St. Lo and the wooded hills where Allied big guns could command (Please turn to Page 4, Column 1)

Report State Of Siege At Cherbourg

NEW YORK, June 10.—(AP)—Radio Atlantic, purported secret anti-Nazi German station, said today that Maj. Gen. Feuchtinger, German commander at Caen, had ordered his troops to hold the town "under all circumstances" in an order of the day. The broadcast was recorded by NBC.

A Brazzaville broadcast, also recorded by NBC, said a state of siege had been declared in Cherbourg.

Another Brazzaville broadcast picked up by the Blue Network, said a state of siege also had been declared in Strasbourg, in France near the German border.

Sunday cloudy with thunder-showers along southern border, warmer extreme northeast; high-est temperatures 75 north, 85 south; thundershowers north Sunday night and Monday.

Hats Off To Bond Leaders and Workers—

Sedalia and Pettis county during a seven-hour campaign oversubscribed their quota in the Fifth War Loan Bond drive. The figure—over one million dollars.

Credit for this accomplishment goes to the city and county citizens who responded so nobly. But the job was not an easy one and its success hinged on many hours of preliminary organization work. Two spark plugs behind this were City Chairman Ben Robinson and County Chairman C. L. Hanley. The names of those assisting them are legion but all are worthy of the title of patriots.

The seven-hour bond drive was one of an amazing demonstration of community cooperation. It points the way to a solution of the problem of future drives. Put 'em over with a bang!

Anxiety Relieved Only By Prayer—

Among mothers and fathers and sweethearts who have loved ones in England, emotions have been at high pitch for months. The morning the invasion started a woman whose son may have taken part in D-day joined others in conversation about the event until she finally broke down and cried. Intensified worry over the uncertainty of the course of battle as it may affect dear ones will persist many weeks yet. Mortal man can do little to assuage such repressed anxiety. Gentle comfort comes only from prayer, an era of which became world-wide the past week.

"Delay Is Preferable to Error"—

Thomas Jefferson—

Prodigious expenditure of manpower for the mere sake of obtaining some doubtful military prestige has no part in United Nations' strategy.

Careful planning of the drive on and capture of Rome, and of the invasion of France bears this out.

There was every expectation among the civilians that the channel crossing would verge on a holocaust even though a successful bridgehead might be established. The losses were extremely meager considering the magnitude of the operation.

So now we have concrete justification of what had been called dilatory methods in opening a "second front." Despite pressure from and criticism by our Soviet allies the past two years our Russian friends will concede, perhaps, the wisdom behind the masterful military procedure that today is winning plaudits of the entire world.

A prayer of thanks to that General—Eisenhower—whose conceptions of victory are not inspired by impetuosity.

Daisies Won't Tell—

Our candidate for the "Woman of the Year" is Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who has definitely refuted the belief that a woman cannot keep a secret. She says she knew all along the date of the invasion because Franklin told her so. And, like the daisies, she didn't tell.

Missing It Five Days—

Not having access to inner circle information about the war the best I could do was guess the invasion day date. I picked May 30, missing it five days. The crystal ball must have had a crack in it. Looking into it once again I see the Germans surrendering in September 1944, and Japan beaten in September 1945. Which will probably be as close to accuracy as Henry Ford's prediction.

In The Middle of the Night—

I have never been bothered with insomnia so am at a loss to understand why I did not go to sleep Monday night, June 5 after retiring to bed at 11:15. I lay awake three hours and fifteen minutes and then the telephone rang at 2:30 o'clock. As I lumbered out of bed I remarked reassuringly to the wife, "Well, I guess that's the invasion," because she frets about telephone calls in the middle of the night. News Editor "Buck" Agee was on the wire: "The invasion's on; turn on your radio." So I sat up until 3:30 listening to the first hot news which was well handled by the radio men; a thrilling initial account of one of the most momentous events in history, described from information obtained on the scene by correspondents and observers employed by the great American newspaper associations.

Ho, hum!—

When the national debt runs into a few hundred billion dollars it becomes incomprehensible even to Republicans who stumble over the misconception that it is all attributable to fighting the war.

A goodly portion of this national debt was piled up long before the war by such ventures as WPA, Passamaquoddy dam ventures, idealistic but extravagant, costly farm-community failures, financially burdensome bureaus, etc., etc., from 1932 to 1942.

The New Deal need have no re-election fears when local Republican spokesmen publicly condone the huge national debt as patriotically necessary to winning the war. Even a seven-year-old child, brought up in a Democratic environment, knows better than that.

A Point On The Triangle of Influence—

William Southern, Jr., editor of the Independence Examiner writes:

"Mayor Serron, of Independence, has arranged to open state headquarters for his campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor at Sedalia, and the opening date is June 7. The mayor has received such encouragement from Sedalia which is the county seat of Pettis county, that he naturally works from his point of vantage. When the mayor was president of the Municipal League of the State, he served two terms as president, and Mayor Bagby of Sedalia was one of his great admirers and supporters. By making headquarters at Sedalia Mayor Serron also makes another point. Jefferson City is the hot-bed of all organized politics and machine-made candidates and Sedalia is always opposed to Jefferson City. We do not expect Mr. Serron to move the capital from Jefferson City to Sedalia when he is elected, but the triangle of influence with Jefferson City, Columbia, and Sedalia on the points, makes an interesting study."

A Tightly-Worded Restriction—

The present plan for development of Sedalia's Municipal airport, keeping it in operation and ready for quick expansion in the post-war period calls for leasing of the field for a flying school. Protective precautions of Sedalia's interest in the property have been made in contractual relations with the lessee.

At last Monday night's council meeting the development plan was voted upon and passed by a vote of 5 to 2. Councilmen John Taylor and Dick Keenan voiced their opposition as they had a right to do and showed no reluctance to going on record by expressing their reasons why they did not approve of the plan. But the majority vote favored the proposal.

However, before the meeting ended Councilman Keenan offered a motion "that after the signing of the contract-lease on the municipal airport property city employees must not be required to go to the leased airport site to perform work in line of duty."

This motion was passed, all councilmen voting affirmatively except Mr. Eichoff, who had been excused to leave, and T. H. Yount who was present.

This restrictive motion was too tightly worded. It should be modified and resubmitted. Despite the contract lease with Mr. Funk, who will operate the flying school, Sedalia still has a continued interest in the airport site. Subsequently occasions may arise when the city engineer, even the mayor, and city councilmen may be called upon "in the line of duty" to perform advisory work in dealing with subsequent development plans when organized air line companies begin to take an active interest in the airport and arrange for its use. Under the motion, the city engineer, or any city employee would be restrained technically from putting a foot on the airport site "for work in the line of duty."

Mr. Funk will manage to get his work done without the aid of city employees, and Sedalia will expect him to do so. Nevertheless when the city engineer and others on the payroll may be required to negotiate, advise and plan on the site at some future date they should have the liberty to do so freely and without violating any restrictive order of council.

Of course common sense interpretation of the motion would mean that no full-time city employee would be allowed to work at the airport in line of duty when their activities should be and are needed right here at home. But sometimes common sense interpretations are not made when an issue arises.

So to clarify the matter, council should reconsider, reword and have resubmitted a motion more definite in its intent. Now is the time to do it instead of wrangling over finding a loop-hole later when an emergency arises.

Right now the technicality seems hardly worth quibbling about. A grain of sand in a shoe off the floor isn't bothersome either, but when you start walking it proves quite irritating.

Air Strips Will Be Needed—

We are not alone in the belief that far-sighted cities and towns should have air strips ready for the future demands of air transportation, both commercial and pleasure.

An editorial in the Dallas (Texas) News has this to say:

"It has been freely and frequently predicted that in the great aviation age just ahead, the air will be thick with the planes of civilian flyers. William A. Mara, in Plane Talk, says that this prediction's fulfillment will be delayed unless advance provision is made for 20,000 air strips, which will be needed if citizen flyers are to have space for landings and take-offs.

"Provision of this space will call for no great outlay of money. An air strip isn't a great field such as large airliners and huge cargo planes require. It may be, the writer says, a level, grassy piece of land, perhaps 150 or 200 feet wide and 1500 to 2000 feet in length. It need not be hard-surfaced, but must be well-drained.

"The advocate of these air strips bases his argument on his belief that when John Q. Citizen becomes a flyer, he will not confine his operations to cruises from home to office or club, but will want to go farther afield at times. He knows his fellow-Americans when he says that about them.

"The urge to get away, to go wherever he wants to go and when he wants to go, is part of the American make-up, irresistible and uncontrollable. When the citizen learns to fly, he'll fly far and wide. Depend on that. Forehand cities and towns will have the air strips ready."

Missouri Pacific Unopposed To Airports—

Inference that the Missouri Pacific railroad is opposed to the development of airport sites seems to have developed recently. Just why, no one knows, since the railroad itself is on record as planning its own airline.

A letter to L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific Lines, brings this reply:

"In acknowledgment of your letter of May 29, wish to state the Missouri Pacific is not opposed to the airport project which the people of Sedalia have under consideration.

"Respecting the supposition of some people that we would have objection, this no doubt, is the outgrowth of the firm belief on the part of railroad people that all forms of transportation should be maintained on an equitable basis. This does not mean that railroad people want to impede the efficiency of any other mode of transportation but rather that no form of transportation will have advantage in the way of subsidies, tax exemptions or other considerations not equally shared by all those performing transportation service."

Sincerely yours,

L. W. Baldwin."

Merry-go-round

. . . by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—New that the greatest invasion in the history of modern warfare has started, some of the inside story regarding this, the most controversial question that has confronted the Allies, can be reviewed.

It is no secret that the second front has been the sorest subject of debate between the British and Russians and, at times, even between U. S. and British military leaders, since the war began.

At one time, when the Russians were hard-pressed and fighting for their lives at Stalingrad and in the winter of 1942-1943, it was feared by some U. S. military observers that Stalin might even withdraw from the war because of bitterness over the fact that the second front was not started.

The controversial question first arose in the early summer of 1942, a few months after Pearl Harbor, when Foreign Minister Molotov came to London, then to Washington, for important political-military conferences. Although Poland and the Baltic States were on his list of subjects to be discussed, at the very top of the list was the second front.

At that time, the American army was relatively small and not too well prepared. Molotov's thesis was that we should persuade our British allies, with a million-man army in England, to hit Germany from the west. President Roosevelt had to say that we could not high-pressure an ally.

However, General Marshall did work out a plan for a landing across the channel in the fall of 1942. His plan was based on the fact that the Nazis had thrown the cream of their entire army into Russia and had their lines extended as far as Stalingrad, leaving France and western Europe relatively undefended.

Marshall proposed this instead of the North Africa landing of November, 1942. However, Churchill was not willing to take the chance and held out for his plan to strike through the "soft underbelly of the Axis," namely North Africa and the Mediterranean.

Compromise at Casablanca

The Russians were disappointed, but even more so after Casablanca. There U. S. military and naval leaders were definitely ready to discuss the second front. But Churchill laid down the thesis that in any cross-channel operation, the ratio of troops would have to be about 70 per cent American to 30 per cent British.

From the British viewpoint, he made a plausible argument for this, pointing out that Britain had lost her "seed" when she poured the cream of her manhood into Flanders Fields in 1914. This, he said, had set England back perhaps a generation, and she could not afford to lose her "seed" again. He also pointed out that England's population was less than one-third that of the U.S.A.

However, at the rate of submarine sinkings at that time, it was impossible to ship American troops across the Atlantic in enough numbers to make up 70 per cent of an invasion army.

Churchill at that time wanted to invade the Balkans. General Marshall favored a second front in western Europe. So, instead, they compromised on Italy which, except for Sicily and the extreme south, nobody really wanted to invade.

Once again, the Russians were desperately disappointed, and rumors came out of Moscow—perhaps inspired in order to influence

No Decision At Quebec

Highly expectant communiques were issued after each conference, so that the world got the impression that the second front was imminent. However, judging by their military movements, the Germans were not much concerned over these communiques, and probably knew that, even after the Quebec conference in the summer of 1943, Churchill and Roosevelt still were not able to agree on the second front.

At Quebec, the United States still had not had time to ship sufficient troops overseas to supply a 70-30 ratio, and Churchill, never enthusiastic about a cross-channel operation no matter what the ratio, still wanted to penetrate the Balkans.

It had been hoped that Stalin would join Churchill and Roosevelt at Quebec or some place in northern Canada. But he turned the invitation down. And once again, there was no decision on the second front. U. S. naval leaders, by this time, demanded and secured an agreement whereby we would go ahead faster in the Pacific.

Teheran Conference

Next came the Teheran conference. Only then was an agreement reached that the British and American forces should attack Germany across the channel while Russia hit her from the east.

The agreement did not come too easily, however, even at Teheran. Churchill first proposed his old hunting-ground, the Balkans; then a southern European operation; then an all-out and continued air-pounding of Germany which he thought would bring Hitler to his knees. Stalin, however, turned thumbs down on all three unless accompanied by a cross-channel operation.

Finally, an agreement was signed that the invasion should start no later than a certain week. Stalin gave certain promises in return, most of which cannot yet be revealed.

Later when Churchill recovered from his illness, he made cer-

KERRY KRAFT has been having its face lifted, its hair marcelled and its body streamlined.

Tool has gone (I never knew what Tool did). Small Parts has gone and, alas, Detail Inspection. (Goodbye, Gert; goodbye, all those of you who bore with me when I was green and new!) In their places is a madhouse of unfamiliar jigs, of workmen laying track, tearing it up and laying it again, of little knots of Inspectors and Engineers gabbling over enormous blueprints.

Kerry Kraft has got a new contract.

Kerry Kraft is going to build, not just mere parts of planes for somebody else, but its own complete, invincible, totally assembled fighter. They've done them before, but only in a small way. Now it's "big-time" stuff, assembly line stuff, real Production. It doesn't mean just one line, to assemble the plane itself; it means a line for each part: fuselage, wing, tail, fin, rudder, aileron, elevator. Then the final assembly; all the parts, each completed on its own line, coming together—half a dozen planes being assembled all at once.

Not all of these lines are starting off from scratch. They've already been making the wings and stabilizers, the fins and control surfaces and all that is really new is the fuselage and the fitting of these various pieces together to make a finished plane. It's, as planes go, a little thing, but it takes up a lot of room and, in order to arrange the component lines in some semblance of a pattern, everything is topsy-turvy. In the shop, they express it differently. My fellow-workers, I find, have quite a gift for vivid phrase.

And my fellow-workers, now, are no longer girls but "fellers," for I am at last out of Bench and on the Lines. On the line which makes the stabilizers for the new plane, the "X-O."

At last I am a riveter.

At Simpson's, on the day when we first met rivets, I was, incredible as it now seems, not only entirely ignorant of what riveting might be, but hardly sure what a rivet itself was. I remember looking curiously at the round-headed, short and unpointed nail—five-thirty-seconds of an inch in diameter, not quite half an inch long. The only rivets I had ever before been aware of were large red-hot spikes that men tossed to each other on the girders of a new building.

Did these have to be made red-hot, I wondered?

They don't. Aluminum rivets (or, more correctly, aluminum alloy) are driven cold. The metal may appear to be as hard as nails but it is, in reality, soft enough so that it can be flattened by an ordinary hammer. You drill a hole; you put a rivet in it; while

A rivet-gun is an alarming little machine until you become accustomed to it.

And when we are ready when the rivet is in its hole, our bar against it set for the gunner to gun, we yell, "Hit it!" "Hit it!" There's a certain unvarying inflection to it, a certain pitch to the voice, be it that of a man or girl. It has something of the same quality as the "Go!" which sets off runners. "Hit it!" "Hit it!" All up and down the lines that's what you hear: "Hit it!" and the instant, sharp, incredibly fast and incredibly noisy hammering of the gun.

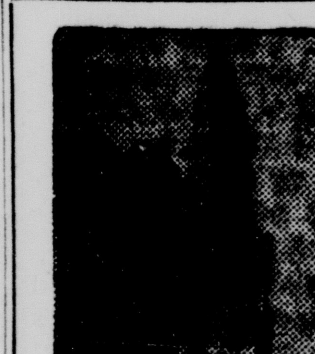

That is riveting, when you've got a good rivet-team, who've worked together and know each other's "style." That is riveting when you're "knockin' 'em out" and when everything is "on the beam," okay and movin'. That is riveting, the "glamor job" of aircraft.

Two Sky Trains a Minute Carry Men and Equipment to France

NINTH AIR FORCE TROOP CARRIER BASE—From this base, the spearhead of invasion started. Here I sketched the take-off of planes and gliders as they headed toward Normandy beaches with paratroopers and airborne infantry. I watched troops march two abreast toward the gliders.

As group commander, Col. John W. Donelson led the invasion planes from the field. From his plane he dropped the first paratrooper to land on French soil. When he returned, he told of the scant opposition he encountered.

I talked with Colonel Beach, who piloted the plane that towed the "Fighting Falcon" glider, donated by the school children of Greenville, Mich. His glider was piloted by Lt. Mark Murphy, of Boston, and landed the commanding officer, together with his jeep, before any other glider touched earth.

The field was crowded with monsters of the air, seemingly wing to wing. Men and vehicles were lined up along the runway while the starter, standing on the hood of a jeep, faced them. Suddenly he raised his hand, signaling the first plane to start.

Moment of Suspense
As it moved forward, the tow plane attached its glider. Lines tautened, and the plane and glider moved forward in unison. There was a moment of suspense as the tow plane sped down the runway, but they rose and soared off over the treetops.

Before the first pair left the ground a second started, and then a third. At the end of 28 minutes, 50 planes with their gliders had departed with passengers who would soon be behind the German lines in France.

Glider Pilots Wipe Out 58 Germans - Used Grenades

By HOWARD COWAN

A U. S. NINTH AIR FORCE TROOP CARRIER BASE, June 10—(P)—Glider pilots returning to this base today reported that Lt. Robert Campbell of Seattle, Wash., and two parachute troopers wiped out 58 Germans with hand grenades and a machine gun and captured a Nazi command post a mile and a half south of Ste. Mere Eglise, which now is in American hands.

The glider pilots, 27 of them, landed behind enemy lines in the first 48 hours of the invasion of Normandy. Technically they were supposed to return immediately to base for more troops and supply-carrying assignments, but they got caught up in the swirl of battle and fought alongside the troops they had landed.

Fatigued and with bloodshot eyes and bearded faces, looking half comical in an assortment of captured Nazi regalia. They were full of stories of the awful price exacted from the Nazi hordes which infested the fields south of Ste. Mere Eglise and those dropped from the skies in a small-scale German parachute troop landing.

Of 200 Nazi parachutists, 13 were taken prisoner. The others died at the hands of American parachutists who stood in the opening firing and shouting defiance into the skies.

Flight Officer Leo J. Cordier of East Hartford, Conn., and his crew untangled their jeep from the wreckage of a glider and used it to carry the wounded to a first aid post a half mile away. They spent the night lying awake in foxholes as German snipers prowled about.

Others who returned here included Flight Officers Joseph H. Thompson Jr., 9452 St. Charles Rd., St. Louis, Mo.; Frederick Mason, 1045 North Waco St., Wichita, Kans.

Also Flight Officers James Dutcher, Route 3, Okmulgee, Okla.; Hollis Davis, Cordell, Okla.

CARE WILL SAVE YOUR REFRIGERATOR

Here are some hints that will keep your electric refrigerator on the job and prolong its life. As you know, no more refrigerators are being made. Keeping yours on the job is one of your wartime duties as a homemaker.

FOLLOW THIS "ONCE-A-WEEK" CHECK LIST

- 1 Defrost whenever frost on the freezing compartment is more than 1/4 inch thick. Defrost regularly—once a week is recommended.
- 2 When you defrost, clean interior with solution of warm water and baking soda (teaspoon of soda to three quarts of water).
- 3 Clean exterior with warm soapy water, no scouring powder. Wax exterior occasionally to preserve non-porcelain finish.
- 4 Your refrigerator door should fit properly. Test by closing on a piece of paper. If paper comes out with little resistance, the door does not quite fit correctly. Consult a service man.
- 5 The gasket on the inside of the door should be touched as little as possible since water, grease and dirt shorten rubber life.
- 6 Be sure there is space at the back of refrigerator and on either side, to allow for proper circulation of air.
- 7 Open mechanism should be oiled and cleaned according to manufacturer's directions.
- 8 Call an authorized service man when your refrigerator is not operating properly.

road junctions at the base of the Normandy peninsula.

The British-Canadian effort was a great road-blocking effort to keep out German reserves while the Americans fan westward across the peninsula and wheel northwestward toward Cherbourg.

Over 5,000 Prisoners
Captured Germans passed the 5,000 mark, with 3,000 of them taken by hard-hitting American paratroopers and infantrymen apparently bent on bottling up thousands of Germans based on Cherbourg, France's third largest seaport.

Hundreds of Crack Nazi paratroopers, veterans of the Russian and Cassino front who had spilled out of the skies in an effort to stop the Americans, were among the captives.

Improving weather found a thunderous procession of Allied bombers and fighters hitting the Germans along the front and plastering Axis communications leading to the French interior.

For the first time since the disastrous days of Dunkerque four summers ago the Allies had established forward airfields in France. Both the RAF and the U. S. Ninth Tactical Air Force now have such bases, an official statement said. Their location naturally was not disclosed. RAF Spitfire fighters were among the first on the fields which C-47 troop-carriers also were utilizing for the evacuation of wounded.

Although the weather has been bad and a constant source of anxiety for the Allied command it has not stopped the flow of reinforcements into the Normandy beachheads. Front dispatches said the Allies now held more than 40 miles of beaches where bulldozers had hacked out landing strips for heavy weapons unloaded from thousands of flat-bottomed craft playing 100 miles across the channel from Britain.

Returning Allied airmen bombed German concentrations in the Balleroy woods, nine miles southwest of Bayeux on the road to St. Lo. During their mission they could see fires, touched off by Allied shells, raging in Caen.

The Germans used the old French dike system to inundate big sections of the lowlands but Berlin nevertheless said the Americans were attacking through the water on both sides of Carentan, and described the assault as a major one.

Carentan itself is the key to much of the dike system, since a whole network of rivers draining the middle Cherbourg peninsula pour through there into the Bay of Seine. The main locks controlling the dike system are at the tiny village of Hautdyck, just on the northern outskirts of Carentan.

Japanese Again Are Repelled

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Sunday June 11.—(P)—The Allied navy has thwarted the second Japanese attempt to reinforce invaded Biak in the Schouten Islands off north Dutch New Guinea, headquarters reported today. Allied air power had smashed the first.

Headquarters reported that five Japanese destroyers were intercepted Thursday night by Allied warships which forced the enemy group to turn and flee. One of the destroyers possibly was damaged.

Yesterday's communique had told of the aerial sinking of four destroyers, the damaging of another and the routing of a cruiser and destroyer in the first enemy setback while attempting to reinforce Biak.

On Biak, where the Yank Sixth army units invading the island May 27 now occupy an airdrome within bombing range of the Philippines, the invaders mopped up Japanese in caves along ridges near the airfield.

Recuperating In England

Pettis County Girl, Nurse, Has Malaria

A picture of First Lieut. Enid M. Wherley, U. S. Army Nurse, Pettis county girl, appeared in the Kansas City Star of June 4 in an article on "Kansas City's Hospital Unit Awaits D-day As One Big Family."

Lieut. Wherley has been ill with malaria which she contracted in Africa. This is her second attack. She had been ordered to rest and take it easy. She didn't want her picture taken because she did not want the relatives at home to worry. "Actually I am not sick and at home about it." In the picture with her is Second Lieut. Marion A. Cross, of Wilson, Kas., who is looking after her.

Major William F. Kuhn, a staff surgeon, said he felt certain that Lieut. Wherley would be back on the job in a day or so.

An Orphan
Lieut. Wherley and her sister, Mrs. Hope Browning of Kansas City, were left orphans when just tiny girls and were reared by an aunt, Mrs. C. H. Cline in Ottoville. A. A. Wherley, of Beaman, an uncle was appointed their guardian. T. E. Wherley of Ottoville is also an uncle.

Upon her graduation from the Ottoville high school, Lieut. Wherley went to Kansas City where she took her nurses training in the Bethany hospital. After completing her training she was school nurse in one of Kansas City's largest high schools giving up that position to enter service. She was stationed for a short time at Fort Leonard Wood and about two years ago was sent overseas where she has nursed boys from various places around Central Missouri. She has been in Africa and other places overseas and was sent to England to recuperate from malaria. She is no doubt doing her part with the medical corps in the invasion.

you are soon to return to an inactive status. Your patriotism, demonstrated during the years that followed the last World War by your voluntary sacrifice of much of your free time in order to prepare yourself to meet an emergency for our country, is certainly much to be admired. When the emergency which you had foreseen finally came, you were ready to contribute far more than the average American toward the protection of the nation during the critical time when men with military experience were sorely needed. Your personal sacrifices during the extended period of active duty which will soon terminate are deeply appreciated.

"You need feel no regret at your return to civilian life since, as I have said above, you were ready when your country most needed your military experience. You have played your part in a splendid manner and are deserving of high praise and lasting gratitude from your fellow Americans. Now the home front needs your services more than you are needed by the Armed Forces, since younger men have been trained, commissioned and now have been seasoned to lead our military forces. Should it become necessary for you to come again to the active defense of the nation, I know that you will respond in the same patriotic manner as before.

Clark's Fifth Army Moving To The North

the 14th army fled toward the safety of northern Italian mountains, it left its fellow tenth army to the east and south to guard its own flanks as best it could. This army on the west side of the Tiber has been withdrawing more slowly and with more order before the British Eighth army, principally because of the mountainous terrain making pursuit difficult.

Nevertheless the peril to this army too was so great that a spokesman for the Allied command included it along with the 14th in the forces which he declared now were being enveloped by "catastrophe."

German losses in prisoners and equipment were mounting steadily and although no new figures have been disclosed recently it appeared probable that great additions have been made to the more than 22,000 prisoners taken in the first three weeks of the offensive, which now is a month old.

The Fifth army pounded on north of Viterbo, important junction 40 miles above Rome which fell yesterday, in an advance which represented the most direct flanking threat to the German Tenth army. The Allied command announced that "here too there is much disorganization, and prisoners recently taken include cooks, butchers and bakers from ages of no more than 14."

Losses in the Tenth army continued to run heavy and the once-proud Hermann Goering division in particular has been reduced to a strength comparable to that with which it straggled back from Sicily, later to be rebuilt.

Pencillin at Local Hospital

The Bothwell Memorial hospital, of Sedalia, is one of 1,000 more hospitals added to those already serving as depot hospitals for the limited distribution of pencillin to civilians was announced today by the chemicals bureau of the War Production Board.

This brings to more than 2,000 the total number of hospitals serving as depots, the WPB said. The step was taken, officials related, to make the drug more conveniently available to hospitals in the less populated areas of the country.

"The newly-established depots will recognize requests of other hospitals and, if the need is established, will to the best of their ability in consideration of their supply on hand, furnish pencillin for purchase by such other hospitals," the WPB said.

The following Missouri hospitals have been added to the list: Carthage—McCune-Brooks hospital; Hannibal—Levering hospital; Independence—Independence Sanitarium and hospital; Kansas City—Children's Mercy hospital; Louisiana—Pike county hospital; Maryville—St. Francis hospital.

Allied Planes Hammer En After A Lull

In France to speed the operation of fighter bases from which Allied planes can give close support to ground forces without returning to Britain.

Up to 500 Flying Fortresses and Liberators pounded German air fields and gun positions behind the battle area following up similar night blows by the Royal Air Force while light and medium bombers by the hundreds bombed as close as a mile to the battle lines and over a 15-mile stretch behind.

Railroad, highways, heavy gun positions and a concentration of troops and tanks were attacked.

Channel skies remained thick with aircraft throughout the afternoon and evening. The Vichy radio said two air raid warnings had been sounded in the Paris area.

While these blows were raining down from the west, lightning fighter-bombers from the Mediterranean flew deep into the Balkans and made a daring dive-bombing attack on the last major refinery still operating in the often bombed Ploesti oil fields.

This important source of Nazi oil still had in operation the Romania-American refinery after previous attacks by American heavies, and the Lightnings left the target enveloped in black clouds of smoke.

Meanwhile up to 500 heavy bombers struck at a refinery at Trieste, hit by RAF night bombers only a few hours earlier.

Names in 1864 Poll Book Are Similar to Many Here Today

Many names familiar to this generation appear in a Pettis county election poll record of 1864 on loan to the Historical Society and now in one of the museum cases at the court house.

In that general election year there was a Republican sweep here, in some cases the ratio being 2 to 1, with a 351 to 118 majority cast for Abraham Lincoln, whose opponent was George B. McClellan.

The winning vice presidential candidate was Andrew Johnson with 351 votes.

There were 474 votes cast according to the listing in the "Poll book in the election held at Sedalia in Township of Mount Sterling in county of Pettis."

The voters favored appropriating old county buildings to the Sedalia court house, which apparently was the start of the original court house here.

Judges Eighty Years Ago
Judges at the election 80 years ago were D. B. Kidd, John Q. Bridges and F. E. Kirkpatrick. The clerks were Theodore Black, George R. Keill and Charles Hartenbach.

Officers voted on were President, vice president, governor, lieutenant governor, congressman, secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, registrar, attorney general, representative, judge of county court, judge of circuit court, coroner, sheriff, treasurer, assessor, surveyor, justice of peace and constable.

George R. Smith, founder of Sedalia, was the thirteenth voter.

Other familiar names in the poll book are J. W. DeJarnette, E. E. Bridges, Charles Wilson, W. E. Bolton, William Beck (the seventieth voter), O. A. Crandall, M. F. Cummings, W. H. Allison, C. Resistance Of French Rises

Patriots Fight Germans In Vosge District

By NED NORDNESS

LONDON, June 10.—(P)—French resistance to the Germans is rising, with sabotage and insurrection all over France, it was learned at Allied headquarters tonight.

Every French village, it was declared, offers information, medical assistance and any other possible help to the Allied forces.

Although the Allied high command was withholding for the strategic moment its instruction to the underground to strike all-out for the liberation of the country, front-line dispatches and continental reports told of multiplying blows against the Nazis. Unrest also was reported in the German Reich itself.

While some observers were inclined to be conservative in their estimates of these reports—which seeped out of the Netherlands and northern Italy as well as France and Germany—it was conceded that the invasion of Normandy had inspired increasing sabotage behind the French lines.

The most sanguine reports came to the French press service in London. These said French patriots were engaged not only in widespread sabotage but were fighting pitched battles with occupation troops deep behind the German lines.

Capture 300 Nazis

The French press service said patriots were engaging more than 2,000 Germans in the Vosge district in a battle in which they had captured more than 300 Nazis. It also reported fighting at Bourg and Macon, which lie near the Haute Savoie, a center for the fighting French Maquis.

Partisans also attacked Germans in Brittany, "killing about 20 and taking supplies," the agency reported, while in the Nord department they have cut three canals, and in the Ain department have destroyed 50 locomotives and slashed electric and telephone lines.

The Algiers radio said the French underground had dynamited railways between Paris and Normandy and Brittany, delaying German troop movements to the front.

The Vichy French regime and the Germans were doing their best to clamp down on the patriots. The Paris radio announced that the Germans had suspended telegraphic service in northern France, and Vichy took new steps to conscript youths for labor jobs.

The Algiers radio quoted Swiss reports that Netherlands had been fired upon by troops for demonstrating over the invasion, and another continental account said northern Italian demonstrators were being arrested by the scores.

A clandestine German paper, called "Inner Front," reported unrest was increasing in Germany, "especially a lack of discipline among foreign workers, notably French and Italians."

This paper said, "German deserters, foreign workers and escaped prisoners of war, hiding in ruins of blitzed German towns, form the bulk of resistance; but German authorities still are in control of the situation—despite riots in some towns—because the food shortage is steadily worsening."

Attend Funeral Of 'Gib' Ross

Mr. and Mrs. Monte E. Ross, of Moline, Ill., are visiting at the home of Miss Sadie Homan, who resides between Smithton and Florence.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross came to Sedalia from Wadsworth, Kas., where they were called by the death of Mr. Ross's brother, Churchill Ross, who died at the Veterans' hospital there on May 21. Military funeral services were held at the hospital on May 23.

Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Ross to Wadsworth was a sister of the deceased, Mrs. Betty Wiley, of Moline, who has returned to that place.

Also surviving Churchill "Gib" Ross, is another sister, Mrs. Ida Morris, of Versailles.

The deceased was a veteran of World War I.

Cooper Slaps Reds Down Systematically

Bill Lohrman Blasted By Cardinals With An 18-0 Shutout

CINCINNATI, June 10.—(P)—Bill Lohrman, who used to beat the Cincinnati Reds regularly as a New York Giant, was no help today in his first effort for the Reds as the St. Louis Cardinals blasted him in the second inning and coasted ahead to a 18 to 0 victory on 21 hits and 14 walks.

Second Inning Rally
Six runs came in during the second, with the Cards more than batting around and chasing Ed Heusser as well as Lohrman. Buck Fausett, versatile minor leaguer whom the Reds brought up as a third baseman this year, finally got the last two outs.

Oddly enough, not an extra base hit was registered in the inning and even though Eddie Miller set up the first score by throwing the ball to an unoccupied base, all the runs were earned. Seven singles in all could be counted.

While Mort Cooper was slapping the Reds down systematically and spacing their hits skillfully, the Cards went on to fatten their batting averages in the latter innings. A single by Danny Litwhiler and double by George Fallon made a run in the fourth, and a double by Johnny Hopp and a couple of flies another in the fifth.

Ninth Inning Rally
They scored again in the sixth on a walk, a single, and a fly, another in the seventh, two in the eighth, and a last-shot cluster of five in the ninth on six walks and a pair of singles.

The game was the most one-sided shutout in the National League since June 7, 1906 when Chicago defeated New York, 19 to 0.

Sport Scraps

(By D. KELLY SCRUTON)

EARLY in the spring we talked about a World Series in St. Louis between the Cardinals and the Browns. Later we said that Dick Rohn, although a strict believer in the Cardinals felt there was strong competition in the cellar predicted club. While we didn't feel the Browns had more than an inside chance to win the American League pennant, they had our best wishes.

The other day in discussing some of the spring predictions with Rohn, Sedalia's best-known, and probably best-informed, former ball player and fan, I learned some of his claims are coming through. I have listened to Dick for years, and he hasn't missed many. I have had the honor of riding along with him and getting the credit.

He recalls the conversation about the Detroit Tigers, who were scheduled by some of the best baseball writers to end in the second division if not the cellar of the American League. I never felt that way from the beginning, and Rohn said it wouldn't happen.

He also called attention to the Pittsburgh Pirates, likewise scheduled for one of the lower division "spots", and what he had to say about them is coming true.

Dick predicted then they would end in the first division. Now he says Pittsburgh will end up either one, two or three, but he feels the Cardinals had the best chance of holding to their position at the top of the National League.

THE Tigers in the American League are crowding the top spot. Of course the Browns are holding on to the first place position with their finger nails. Since the opening of the season they have been in and out of that place several but he feels the Cardinals have the best chance of holding to a steady climb to third place, a reaction beneath the New York Yankees, who are several points under the Browns. The standing at the present time:

St. Louis	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Louis	27	22	.551
Yankees	22	20	.524
Detroit	24	23	.511

Down in the National League the Cardinals have a far better hold on the first place spot, but Rohn says WATCH OUT FOR THE PIRATES. This is the present standing of these two teams, with the Pirates second in the league:—

St. Louis	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Louis	30	15	.667
Pittsburgh	25	17	.595

He claims the Browns are playing above their heads to some extent, while the Tigers are a more evenly balanced team. Considering the offense, they are better hitters, and on the defensive the entire infield and outfield are balanced. They have everything that a winning team needs.

The Pirates are a great deal like the Tigers, but the Cardinals likewise are fairly well balanced and have a good pitching staff which is a big factor in their league.

Well, we shall wait until October 1 and see what our turn is.

OUR fair-haired boy, Jimmy Glenn, now First Class Yeoman in Uncle Sam's Navy, is home and for the past week we have listened to him talk about the West Coast athletics until our head splits. Jimmy, however, ends his conversation, "Gosh, I'll be glad to get back home and see some real football, basketball, and in general, good sports".

Sammy Byrd Has Lead In Golf Tourney

All Set To Collect $6,700 In War Bonds 18-Holes Left To Play

PHILADELPHIA, June 10.—(P)—Except for the formality of playing an 18-hole round of golf tomorrow, Sam Byrd of Detroit was all set today to pocket $6,700 in war bonds.

Former Ball Player
The former New York Yankee outfielder, who gave up baseball to join the play-for-play golf brigade, held a seven-stroke lead at the end of 54 holes in the 17,500 Philadelphia Inquirer 72-hole medal play invitational tournament—and with him in his present putting groove, no one is going to catch him in the short stretch drive.

Sam sloshed around the Torresdale-Frankford 71-par layout today in 69 strokes, despite a rainstorm which threatened to wash out the third round of the event. That round, second best of the day, gave him 202 for 54 holes, or 11 under par for the route.

Craig Wood, the duration national open champ from Mamaroneck, N. Y., skidded to 73 today from his sensational 66 of yesterday, but clung to second place with 209. The blond star lost four strokes to par on the last three holes.

Third Place Deadlock
Deadlocked in third place with 210 were Byron Nelson, former national open and P. G. A. king from Toledo, Ohio, who romped in with a 69 today, and Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of the army and Little Rock, Ark., who fashioned a three-under par 68 today, the best score of the rain-drenched round.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Philadelphia's heavy money winner of the winter tour, ran into a flock of three-put greens and took a 73 for a 213 total, and Bob Hamilton, North-South winner from Evansville, Ind., also had a 73 for a 214 count.

Byrd reached the tournament peak with his magic putter, having used only 88 shots on the greens instead of the regulation 108 for the 54 holes.

Professional Hunter To Kill Predatory Wolves

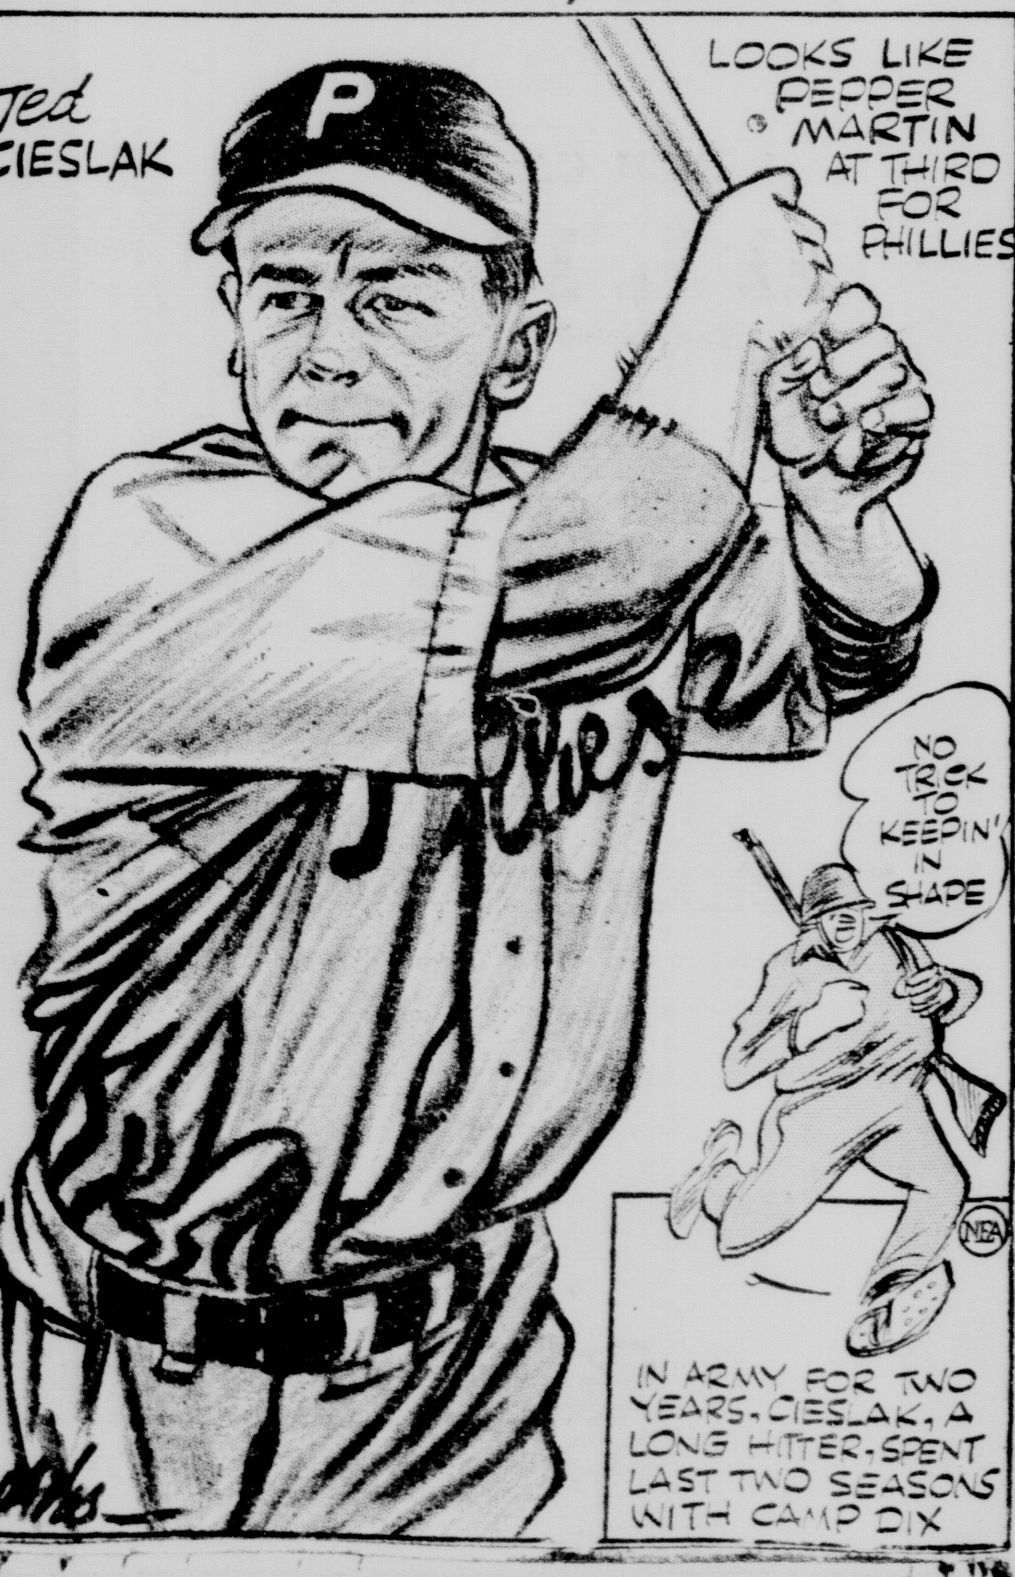

JEFFERSON CITY, June 10.—(P)—A state wolf hunter has been hired to hunt out and shoot down predatory wolves preying on Missouri farmers' livestock, the Conservation Commission announced today.

The hunter, Herman Dilworth of Sullivan, Mo., will begin his work in Monticello county next week. He scorns traps, preferring hounds and gun.

Dilworth will operate "by organizing and directing wolf drives with the assistance of local farmers and sportsmen," the commission said, adding that he would spend from one to several weeks in a county, according to the density of the wolf population.

Six wolf trappers, hired cooperatively by the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service, the commission and local organizations, are now operating in Missouri, the commission said.

Reclaimers The Team To Beat For League 1944 Championship

Twilight League games got underway the past week with six teams seeing action. All of the games were rather closely contested and furnished much entertainment to the small attendance. Spectators in the future anticipate many interesting games during the summer campaign.

The Reclaimers from the Missouri Pacific Shops appear on the schedule to date as the strongest aggregation among the present teams. The team is composed of former ball players of the old Sedalia Merchants and other teams in the league have designated them as the team to beat for the league championship.

The league swings into action again this Tuesday night with the opening games to be played at 6:15 o'clock.

Games scheduled for this week are: 6:15 o'clock, Sacred Heart vs. Pepsi Cola; 6:15 o'clock Mo. Pac. Carmen vs. Rosenthal's; 7:15 o'clock Reclaimers vs. S. A. A. F. Officers.

Bass Season To Open Thursday

JEFFERSON CITY, June 10.—(P)—Only the weatherman can sidetrack prospects for an auspicious opening to the bass fishing season next Thursday, the Conservation Commission said today, predicting Missouri's streams would be "in good condition" unless heavy rains come.

Five species of bass will become legal victims of fishermen—large-mouth and small-mouth black bass, Kentucky black bass, rock bass and warmouth bass.

Limits on the three kinds of black bass are eight daily, with a maximum of 12 permitted in possession; for rock and warmouth bass, 12 daily and 18 in possession. All black bass must be more than 10 inches long, the two lesser varieties longer than six inches.

Gliders Out For Vengeance

The Gliders will travel to play the Sherman Fliers baseball team today, at Sherman Field, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, in a determined attempt to break a .500 game average in their favor.

The pitching burden will rest upon Sgt Junior Smith, who pitched five-inning relief against the Higginsville A's last Sunday, and allowed only two hits. Pfc Borden Helms will be his battery mate.

Next Saturday, June 17, the Gliders play a home game with the U. of Kansas ball club. The Gliders beat them in a previous game, 10 to 4, when they invaded the college home field. On Sunday, June 18, the Gliders are out for revenge when they travel to play the Higginsville A's on their home field.

Price Ceilings For Used Cars

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(P)—Price ceilings for all used passenger automobiles, under consideration by the Office of Price Administration for over a year, go into effect July 10 at levels generally of January, 1944.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles, announcing the new regulation at a news conference today, said the ceilings would roll-back prevailing prices an average of 10 per cent. The measure covers sales by private owners as well as dealers.

Bowles said OPA finally decided to establish ceilings because prices had "shot up" ten per cent since the middle of March, after remaining virtually stable during the winter.

Current prices, he asserted, are up an average of 20 per cent over those of a year and a half ago and 30 per cent above those of two and a half years ago.

"Under these circumstances, we cannot any longer withhold the issuance of a regulation to control used car prices," the OPA chief stated.

The regulation fixes maximum prices for 23 makes and about 6,000 models manufactured from 1937 through 1942. Ceilings for 1942 models are the same as maximum prices for new passenger cars as of February 29, 1944, while prices for 1937-41 models are fixed at January, 1944, levels.

For older cars, the price is held to that established for the nearest comparable 1937 model.

Two sets of ceilings were established for each model and body type, one an "as is" price and the other a "warranty" price for cars guaranteed to be in good condition.

David G. Kelley, president of the National Automobile Dealers Association, promptly criticized the proposed program, declaring it was similar to OPA's used truck price plan which he said had "proved a wretched failure."

"It is not clear to dealers why in the face of the failure of the used truck ceiling plan, OPA should enter upon another program of virtually an identical nature," Kelley said in a statement.

Versailles To Play Legion Here Today

'Skinny' White Will Pitch For The Visitors And May For Legion

The second home game for the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, Junior baseball team will be this afternoon when it meets the Versailles Merchants aggregation on the Liberty Park diamond. The game is to be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

The local boys hope to continue that well established winning streak today. Up to the present time they have played four games, losing the opener to Windsor and gaining revenge on this team by defeating them last Sunday on the local diamond.

A Fast Aggregation

The Versailles group is bringing to Sedalia a fast aggregation, and although they haven't forwarded their lineup, the local fans are expecting to see "Skinny" White back in action on the mound for the visitors. The game is expected to prove a most interesting contest and fans can expect to see plenty of action.

May will be on the mound for the Legion team with Harmon and "Lefty" Cooney in reserve. Cooney's first hard ball experience was last Sunday when he took the mound for the last three innings and struck out seven batters, his left arm working to perfection.

Bill Walker, new manager-coach of the Legion, has been working the boys hard the past week preparing them for today's contest. A slight change in the playing position of the players has been made which is expected to add much strength to it. Walker is confident the local team will come through and win the district tournament which is expected to be held in the near future.

Today's lineup will consist of Thomas, short stop; Capes, catcher; Johnson first base; Thompson, left field; J. Tuggle, right field; Herrick, second base; Livengood third base; Walter, center field, and May pitch. Those who may see action today are Shoemaker, Harmon, Cooney and G. Tuggle.

Paul Dean Reinstated On Browns Active List

ST. LOUIS, June 10.—(P)—Paul Dean, brother of Dizzy Dean, has been reinstated on the active list of the St. Louis Browns in another attempt by the younger member of the "Me 'N' Paul" pitching duo to make a comeback in baseball.

The Browns announced tonight they had asked waivers on the right-hander and, if they are obtained, he will be sent to Little Rock of the Southern Association to test his arm.

Dean, once a star pitcher with the St. Louis Cardinals, was with the Browns briefly in 1943 but quit baseball to devote full time to business interests in Arkansas.

FROM NOW ON ERLE SMITH, KMBC's news editor, is following his hunches—that's for sure! If that "nose for news" hadn't started twitching last Monday night when Erle arrived home after his 11 o'clock final newscast of the day, it's likely he would have "hit the hay" and missed out on the first flashes of the invasion news!

But fortunately for KMBC listeners, Erle had no sooner reached his home than he turned around and retraced his tire tracks because he had a hunch that "something was popping." As the first word came over the wires, Erle Smith and the network hit the air simultaneously. From then on the KMBC news office was buzzing! Erle again explained the CBS "beep system" to Heart of Americans—three beeps heralding a news bulletin—five beeps, a news roundup.

Keeping tuned to KMBC now is really "keeping tuned to the times," for, along with stations all over the country, KMBC is interrupting all programs at any time to report the invasion news as it happens.

The Junior Red Cross program, with Miss Nettie Lamm as chairman, continues to be an active one. The school children of Sedalia and Pettis county have never failed to stand and deliver. Their contributions, both in money and material, have been more than just satisfactory. The work of JRC in this vicinity should be a source of pride to the adult membership.

The regular monthly meeting of the Volunteer Special Services was held this past week, with Mrs. Harold Dean chairman, in charge. Don't forget! The Blood Bank will be in Sedalia the week of July 10-14.

A program in celebration of Flag Day will be held at Liberty Park, June 14, at 8 p. m. Red Cross volunteers are asked to be present, if possible.

Many Stocks Hit Tops For 1944

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK, June 10.—(AP)—This week's long awaited European invasion found the stock market with its defenses well manned and buying power plentiful for a wide list of peace-rated issues that stand to reap quick benefits from victory.

Heavy demand for motors and accessories, low-priced and otherwise, continued in today's brief session. Numerous favorites touched peaks for the year or longer with gains of fractions to more than a point. Blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares crowded the ticker tape and turnover of 727,170 compared with 355,540 last Saturday and was the largest for a short stretch since March 18 which was the best Saturday mark since July 31, 1943.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .2 of a point at 33 but on the week showed a net decline of as much. At that, it was only .4 under its recent highest level since 1937.

At 1944 tops today were Chrysler, Willys-Overland, Packard, Continental Motors (most active of the list), Murray Corp., Garwood, Hayes Mfg., Graham-Paige, International Telephone, Evans Mfg. and Nash-Kelvinator. Improved were Union Pacific, Austin Nichols "A," U. S. Steel, General Motors, Westinghouse, Standard Oil (N.J.), Dow Chemical and U. S. Rubber. Lower were Consolidated Edison, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft and Eastman Kodak.

live course of Basic Engineering training at recent Service School exercises here was Robert E. Bishop, Jr., 25, husband of Purney M. Bishop, 1615 S. Lamine, Sedalia, Mo.

This Bluejacket was selected for his specialized training on the basis of his recruit training aptitude test scores. Graduates from the twenty specialized courses taught here at the Service School are sent to sea, to shore stations, or to advanced schools, for active duty or further training.

Pfc. Prentice L. Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Adams, of Houstonia, received his aerial gunner wings at the Harlingen, Tex., Army Air Field recently, according to word received from the Harlingen Air Field.

Harry Burford, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Burford, 1006 South Grand avenue, who is stationed in England, has been promoted to the rank of corporal. His wife resides at 1605 South Vermont avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Burford have another son, Lieut. William B. Burford, is stationed in an advanced air base in New Guinea where he is a transport pilot. Lieut. Burford wrote home of his life in New Guinea, telling that he has seen planes bombing and some of the Japanese prisoners. He said that they are living in tents with wooden floors at the edge of the forest which is so dense it would be impossible to flip a coin in it.

Pvt. Paul Thorp has arrived overseas and is somewhere in Italy according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thorp, route 3, Sedalia.

Bearish Tone To The Wheat Market

CHICAGO, June 10—(AP)—The market for wheat futures was bearish throughout today's trading with persistent commission house sales indicating the government's forecast of a record wheat crop of more than a billion bushels was larger than had been anticipated. Price changes were rapid throughout the day and there was many sharp declines.

Rye showed strength at the opening but the trade was mild. There was no heavy or sustained demand for the grain because many brokers doubted the government's requirement that distillers mix 10 per cent rye in the grain mash used in industrial alcohol production would remain effective for many months. Purpose of the WFB directive to distillers was to reduce rye stocks in terminal storage and to conserve other grains.

Wheat closed 1 to 1 1/2 lower than yesterday, July $1.34 1/4. Oats were off 1/4 to 1/2, July 7 1/4. Rye was 1/4 lower to 1 cent higher, July $1.05 1/4. Barley was off 1/4 to 1 1/2, July $1.18.

Record Crop Of Wheat Forecast

Corn Condition Is But Fair Owing To Late Planting

WASHINGTON, June 10—(AP)—A record wheat crop was forecast by the Agriculture department Friday which said in spite of a late start due to unfavorable spring weather, national crop prospects now appear better than on this date in any of the last ten years except 1942.

Due chiefly to timely rains in the southwest winter wheat area during May and to a 20 per cent increased spring wheat acreage, the production of all wheat this year promises, the department said, to reach about 1,034,785,000 bushels compared with 1915 record crop of 1,008,637,000 bushels.

Production last year was 836,300,000 bushels, while the average harvested for the 1933-42 period was 760,199,000 bushels.

Corn Prospects Only Fair

Prospects for corn—the major grain crop and the backbone of livestock production—were said to appear to be only fair due to late planting caused by unfavorable spring weather. No forecast as to the size of the corn crop was made, but officials have hopes of a production in excess of 3,000,000,000 bushels compared with a long time average of about 2,700,000,000 bushels.

The prospective wheat crop includes estimates of 714,148,000 bushels for winter wheat compared with 529,606,000 harvested last year and 320,637,000 bushels of spring wheat compared with 306,692,000 harvested last year.

Forecasts for other grain crops included: oats 1,193,410,000 bushels compared with 1,143,000 last year and 1,028,280,000 for the ten-year average; rye, 31,608,000 compared with 30,781,000 last year and 40,446,000 for the ten-year average, and barley, 299,533,000 compared with 322,187,000 last year and 256,350,000 for the ten-year average.

The condition of pastures—an important spring and early summer source of feed for dairy and beef cattle—was said to be the best for this time of year since 1922.

Treated At Hospital

The Bothwell hospital called the police department at 9:55 p. m. Friday to report that a patient, whose name was given as Gus Franklin, had been treated earlier that night for injuries he received when struck on the head with a beer bottle in a local amusement parlor.

The patient was treated and sent home in a taxicab.

Shops and Rails

Jack Mock, formerly a welder in the truck gang, has returned to Farragut, Idaho, where he has completed his boot training. He is a metal smith second class in the Ship Repair Unit of the U. S. Navy.

Harry Arthur Cone, of Denison, Texas, is spending a few days visiting relatives and friends in Sedalia. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cone, former Sedalians. Mr. Cone is employed as a sheet metal worker for the Katy at Denison.

George Chandler, locomotive truck gang foreman, is taking a two weeks vacation. His place is being taken by Orville Cramer.

J. H. McQuiddy, general machine foreman, was a business visitor in Omaha, Neb., Wednesday.

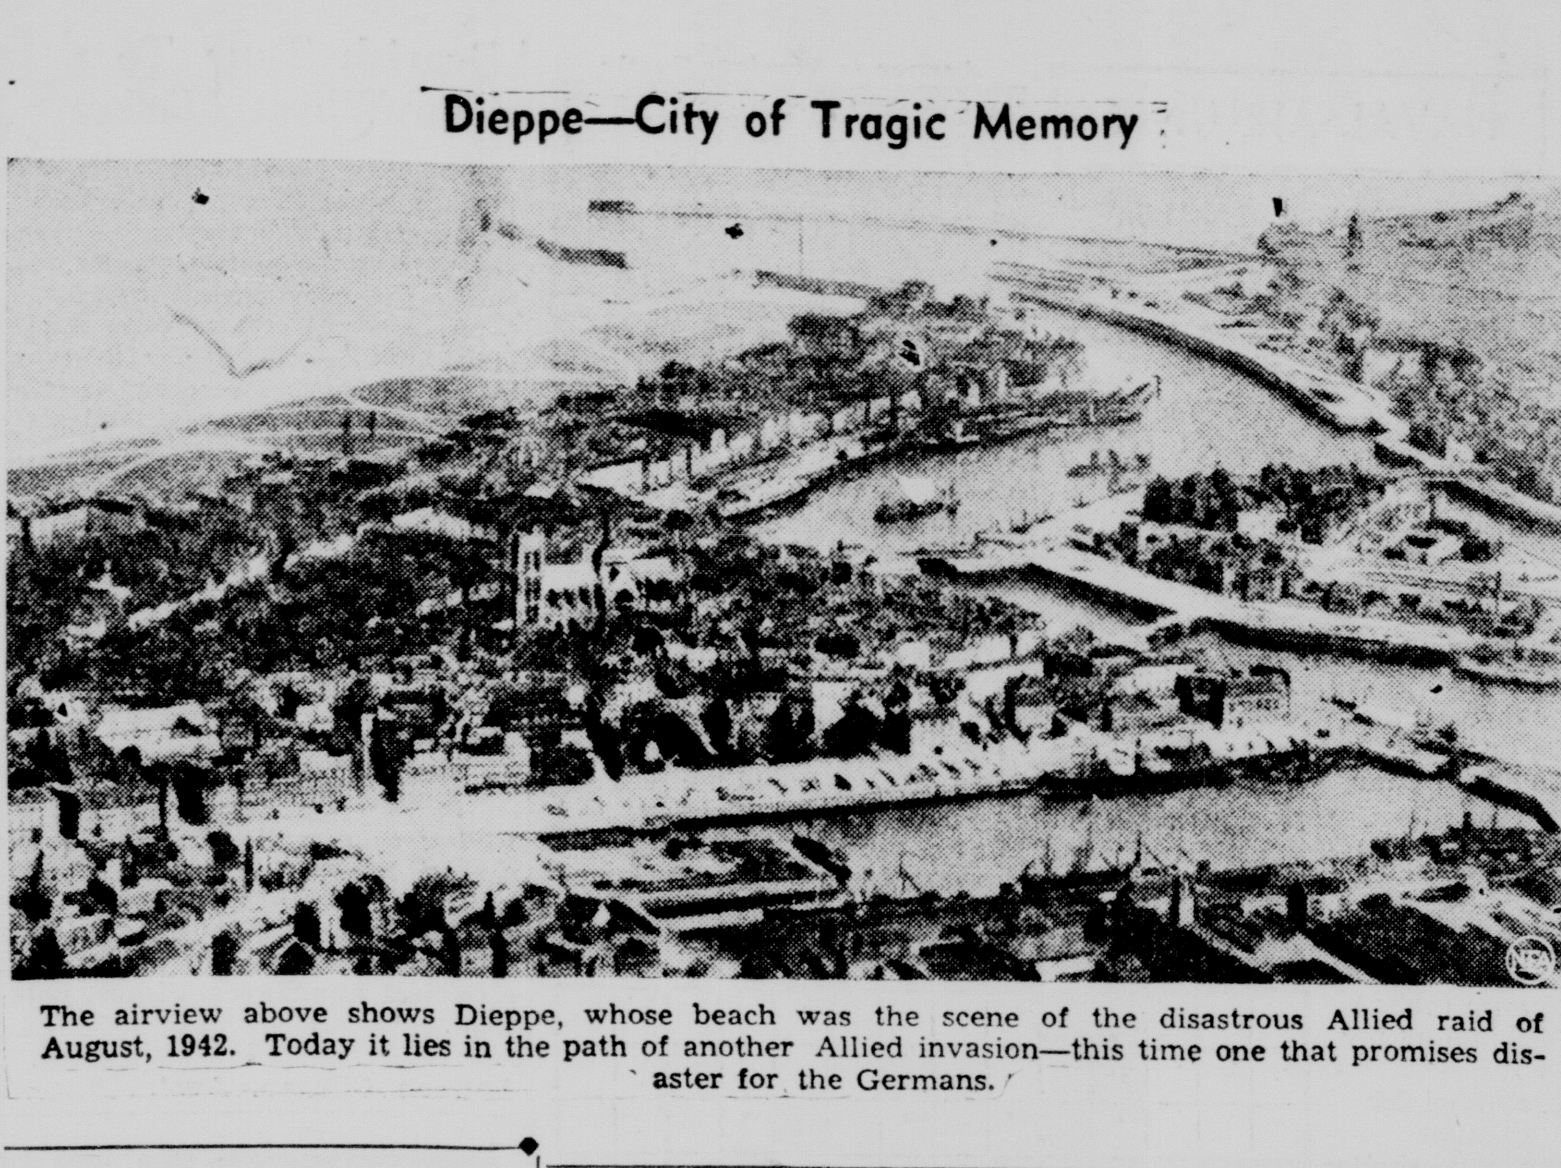

Engines 42, 476 and 5338 have been released for service during the past week.

W. B. Eastham, sheet metal worker, has returned from St. Louis where he has been receiving medical attention at the Missouri Pacific hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stratton of Coffeyville, Kas., are spending a few days vacation visiting relatives and friends in Sedalia. They are former Sedalians and Mr. Stratton was employed at the Sedalia shops. He is now employed as a sheet metal worker at Coffeyville for the Missouri Pacific.

Park Lamb, flue welder, who has been a patient in the Missouri Pacific hospital for the past several weeks has returned home considerably improved, although not able to return to work.

J. B. Russell, machinist helper for the Missouri Pacific since August 31, 1923 has retired from service after completing 42 years of railroad service. Mr. Russell was a brakeman for the Katy and the Missouri Pacific before entering the Sedalia shops and is a well known figure where old time railroaders are concerned. While at the shops he served as a member of the shops committee representing the helpers and was always active in all of the Booster activities. He will remain in Sedalia.

Convict Haupt Again Of Treason

CHICAGO, June 10—(AP)—Hans Max Haupt, German born paper hanger and father of an executed Nazi saboteur, was convicted a second time Friday of treason against his adopted country.

A federal district court jury of six men and six women reached a verdict this afternoon after deliberating since 11:20 a. m. (CWT) yesterday.

Haupt first was convicted of treason in November, 1942, and was sentenced to death but the United States circuit court of appeals granted him a new trial.
